The three messages

The blast that starts it, then the WhatsApp and email that deliver the magazine after the form.

1 · THE BLAST (WHATSAPP)

Navi Mumbai finally has its own business magazine.

BNI RISE, Diwali Edition. 48 pages on what the new airport and the data centre boom mean for businesses here, plus stories from members who have passed ₹3,000 crore of referrals to each other.

It's free. Get your copy:
[rise.yourdomain.in/?src=wa_blast]

Know one business owner who should read this? Forward it to them.

10:30 am

Tip for members: add one line on top in your own words before forwarding. A personal line gets opened. A plain forward gets skipped.

2 · DELIVERY (WHATSAPP TEMPLATE)

Form submitted on the RISE page

Hi [First name], here's your copy of BNI RISE.

Short on time? Start with page ___, Navi Mumbai's Moment.

Reading about BNI is one thing. Seeing a meeting is another. Come as our guest, once, and judge for yourself.

Reply STOP to opt out

Download RISE

Book a guest visit

[First name] is the template variable, filled from the form. Submit this to Meta as a template before launch. Both buttons are tracked links.

3 · DELIVERY (EMAIL)

From: BNI Navi Mumbai <[rise@yourdomain.in]>

Subject: Your copy of RISE is here

Preview: Download your magazine- It's about your next customer.

Hi Rahul,

Thanks for asking for RISE. Your copy is ready.

Download RISE (PDF)

Short on time? Page 11, Navi Mumbai's Moment, maps what the airport and the data centre belt will need from local businesses.

One more thing. Come to a chapter meeting as our guest, once. Book a visit

Team RISE
BNI Navi Mumbai

You're getting this because you asked for RISE on [date].
Unsubscribe